

New Touring Show is Launched

This year Magical Music launched a new show, A Day in the Life of a Child: Musical Revue, in response to the demand for a stage version of our album by the same name. This show will be brought into schools, community centers, and other venues for children with and without special needs. This album was composed with children having special needs in mind. The musical revue brings to life the lessons and skills being addressed in the album's songs. With its adorable sets and snappy songs, this touring show premiered at the New Canaan Library, TUNES IN TIMES SQUARE, and the Autism Speaks Walk in Waterbury in Spring 2015. The 2015-16 season was kicked off with performances at Country Children's Center in Katonah and Ridgefield Library. We are looking forward to performing this show at schools, special needs events, hospitals, and libraries. For booking recommendations or requests for 2016, contact us at info@magicalmusic.org.

The performance was amazing. The kids and staff loved it. The songs were great, I wouldn't change a single thing! Your cast was spectacular!" ~ Brent Morton, School-Age Program Director at The Country Children's Center.

NEW ALBUM IN THE WORKS TO HELP TEACH CHILDREN WATER SAFETY SKILLS

Magical Music is excited to be embarking on a new project that not only "uses music to better the lives of to children," but will actually help save lives as well. Inspired by the songs from our album, A Day in the Life of a Child, and their ability to teach children daily life skills, Ailene Tisser from the Swim Angelfish Program, has asked Magical Music to write an album of songs that will help teach water safety skills. Swim Angelfish is an instructional swimming program with classes held throughout the northeast targeted for children with autism, physical difficulties and the sensory challenged.

"With drowning being the leading cause of death for children with autism, and the rate of autism increasing to 1 in 68, it is imperative that we get these children swimming," says Ailene. Music is a big motivator for all children and especially children with special needs. With catchy melodies and fun lyrics, the songs will teach safety skills such as the importance of NEVER going near water without an adult, how to instinctively always swim to the side of the pool, and how to float. There will also be songs about how to get children to feel comfortable in the water so that basic swimming strokes and skills can be taught.

As with our album, A Day in the Life of a Child, it is the goal of Magical Music to raise the money for the production costs of this new album so that it may be available as a FREE download for ALL parents, teachers, and children.

Zak is Coming Back this Spring

The Adventures of Zak is going into rehearsals this Spring. Jason Summers (who played Zak) has taken over the reins of the production and, in conjunction with Westchester Sandbox Theatre, will direct and take the show to schools, children's clubs, and hospitals.

Outreach in Las Vegas for Children with Autism

As part of Magical Music's outreach efforts to spread the word about our songs for skills, we sent CDs of A Day in the Life of a Child to the Ernie Els for Autism fundraiser in Las Vegas. We were thrilled to be able to partner with this organization to give the gift of our music to those whom it would help.

"I wanted to tell you how grateful we at Els for Autism all are for your support in making the event so special. Your CDs were a hit!"
~ Mary Kay Wilson, Els for Autism

TUNES IN TIMES SQUARE

On May 3rd Magical Music for Life™ held its fourth annual all-day sing-a-thon, TUNES IN TIMES SQUARE in New York City. This event was the biggest to date with more than 120 performances and 48 Broadway/professional actors. "THANK YOU" to the singers, dancers, Broadway and TV performers, donors, volunteers, and thousands in the audience who made it such a terrific event. In keeping with our mission to "use music to better the lives of children," the money raised at this event is funding the
